Closed Shop Topic Of Debate Between Varsity and McGill

To Take Place In Ballroom Tomorrow

"Resolved that compulsory union membership — the closed shop — is in the welfare of the community" is the topic of tomorrow night's debate between Osgoode Hall, Law School of Toronto, and McGill.

The Montreal debate will take place at 8.15 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, where Boris Berbrer and Michael Oliver will uphold the affirmative, while in Toronto Jim Paterson and Bill Archer will attack the resolution. Two of the three judges for the Montreal debate will be Dean Evans, prominent Montreal clergyman and Mr. O. B. Rexford, vice-principal of Commercial High School.

The topic of the debate is of current interest and a large attendance is expected. This is the second home and home debate series between McGill and Toronto since the end of the war. McGill were the winners of last year's debate and "we will be out to maintain their supremacy over their arch rivals," stated a member of the Society. The standard of debating is expected to be high, as the men from Osgoode Hall are well known for their skill in this field of collegiate activity, and McGill is trying hard to continue this year's successfully begun debating season.

The victory over Harvard should not, however, be taken as an indication of an abundance of good, experienced debaters at McGill. The Executive, in choosing the debaters who would oppose Harvard, deemed that debate of such prime importance to McGill that our four best debaters should be entered in the one debating engagement. There is a very real need for interest and participation in all McGill's debating activities. Several debaters of intercollegiate material have been discovered in "sideline" activities (i.e. Inter-faculty Debating, Montreal Debating League, etc.), but there is still room for a large increase in the number of participants in debating at McGill. Only by enthusiastic support from

Side Entrance For Co-eds Debate Topic

The controversy over women students being barred from the main entrance of the Arts Building will be the topic of an inter-faculty debate today at one p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Debating on behalf of the coeds will be Ann Ryan and Joan Morrison. Upholding the existing regulations will be a Commerce debater from Bob Paterson and Lloyd Rogers.

Judges for the debate will be Heddie Brown, President of the Women's Union, Charles Butterworth, Commerce inter-faculty debating representative, and Ted Huggins, a member of the McGill debating team which was recently successful in opposing Harvard. This will be the sixth inter-faculty debate of the fall series, and the second for both of the above groups. R.V.C. was defeated in the first debate of the year by a team of Engineers, the latter upholding the practice of importing American orchestras for college dances. One week later, Commerce met its first defeat when it was unsuccessful in upholding the cause of the squatters against a debating team of our future lawyers.

The only two faculties to remain undefeated in the debating field thus far are Engineering and Medicine. In addition to the aforementioned debate against R.V.C., the plumbers last week defeated law by upholding the Students' Executive Council's decision to ban non-union orchestras from McGill. The only debate in which Medicine has participated was one against Arts and Science. The former gained a split decision in its argument against socialized medicine.

Revue Holding Song Audition In Ballroom

The Producers of the Red and White Revue are holding auditions for original musical compositions this afternoon, from 2.00 to 4.30, in the Union Ballroom.

Since all the songs and musical numbers in the show must be written by members of the student body, a large number of contributions are required. Those who saw last year's production will remember that the music was particularly outstanding, and it was all written and arranged by students.

Some of the songs are still making the rounds. Archie Etienne and his orchestra, who made their campus debut not long ago, are using as their theme "Lazy," which was featured in last year's show.

This year the producers plan to use as much music as possible, and since the show can not be put on paper until all the music has been received, contributions must be made within the shortest possible time. If anyone who has a song or piece of music which he or she would like to present, but can not do so during the audition period, a note at the Tuck Shop with George will notify those concerned.

Dawson Vets To Organize Vet Society

The Dawson Student Veterans Society will hold an organizational meeting tonight in the main theatre in order to enlist new members from the veterans on the Dawson campus and to draw up plans for coming activities. An executive council for the current year will be elected at this meeting which will begin promptly at 7.00 p.m.

All student veterans attending Dawson College are eligible for membership in the Society. By turning out tonight and registering they may take full part in the Society's affairs. The election of officers will form the main business of tonight's meeting. They will be conducted in open forum with nominations for every post open until voting commences. Plans for the development of the Society and suggestions for proposed activities will be entertained. Discussion and ratification of a program to be carried out by the elected executive during the year will also be carried out.

Choral Capers

Choral Society Holds Banquet Sing Song, Food, Fun Featured

By JUDY TAYLOR

McGill's one and only group of vocal experts The McGill Choral Society held this season's first extra-Choral activity at the Union last night. As a starter, believe it or not, they carolled lustily for TWO hours, in order to work up an appetite for supper. (Actually, of course, these rugged chorists do that every Tuesday.) Over 150 members then invaded the Union for an evening of food and fun.

The tables of eight were tagged with the names of various famous couples, musical and otherwise. Among those present were Cleopatra and her Anthony, Dagwood and Blondie, Porgy and Bess, Pop-eye and Sweetpea, and last but not least Lena-the-Hyena, and that Kilroy fella. Matter of fact, these amazing songbirds managed to produce eight (8) Kilroys, as everyone sitting at one table was also tagged with the "table-name".

Games for every valuable prize were played during supper, just to complicate things! Have you ever tried to Pass-the-poisoned-potato and eat salad at the same time? This manoeuvre requires great

'Vets' Mix, Marx VI' This Friday at Gym

The G.O.T.C. mess in the Currie Gymnasium will be the scene of the latest "Vets' Mix, Marx VI" on this coming Friday at five p.m. Mary Molson, the chairman of the Vets' Society Entertainment Committee reports that arrangements are well under way, and that refreshments are now on hand.

Tickets for the Vets' Do, which will be from five to eight o'clock are now on sale for a quarter a piece at the Union and in the Arts Bldg., and a limited number will be available at the door.

Stag or drag is the order of the day, and a special invitation is extended to ex-servicemen, and also all other coeds, who come as guests of male veterans.

J. P. Boyle Flays Liberal Housing Plan

"The inept housing policies of the Liberal Government are driving the Canadian people to the black market," declared Mr. John P. Boyle, who operates a real estate firm in Verdun, at a meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club of McGill yesterday afternoon.

"Black markets are becoming prevalent throughout the building industry and the Liberal government's failure to check this spread through proper legislative action is one of the primary causes of the shortages existing today," he asserted.

"Action must be taken to eradicate the black market and delayed action only permits continued profiteering by those who are breaking the law at the expense of their less fortunate fellow Canadians," he said, adding that hope for alleviation of this situation under the present regime "appears extremely doubtful." "Positive action can only come with a change of administration and with John Brackch as Prime Minister," stated Mr. Boyle.

"The government must prepare for peace as it prepared for war and no excuse exists for failure. If Canada can build such a mighty war machine, surely we can build homes for peace," he concluded. Mr. J. M. Macdonell, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Muskoka-Ontario, will address the club on Wednesday, November 27, it was announced by W. L. Archer, club president, who presided at the meeting.

3 Names Submitted For Dawson Post

Three nominations for the post of president of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society have been submitted, it was disclosed last night by the office of the Dawson Students' Society; R. S. Bowker, P. D. Henry and J. I. Porter are the candidates.

An election will be held one week from today, Wednesday November 27, to determine the undergraduates choice for representative.

Cottrell To Speak To-night

Lectures in Living Series Continues In Moyse Hall

"Functions of Public Opinion Research in Government" will be the topic of a lecture to be delivered by Dr. Leonard Slater Cottrell, Jr., Professor of Sociology, Chairman of the Department of Cornell University, in the fifth of the Lectures in Living series at 8.00 p.m. this evening in Moyse Hall. The Hon. F. Philippe Brails, K.C., will act as chairman.

Dr. Cottrell is best known for his work in the field of Family Research, in collaboration with Dr. E. W. Burgess. Together they issued the book "Predicting Success or Failure in Marriage", which established them as pioneers in this field.

During the war, Dr. Cottrell worked for the Army. For three years, he was active in making studies of army morale. He was often in North Africa and England, but for the most part had his headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Before entering the teaching staff of Cornell University, Dr. Cottrell was a Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago.

The topic he will discuss, that of public opinion research, emerges as a result of his war work, carried out with the collaboration of Dr. S. A. Stantfer, formerly a professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago and now at Harvard.

Dr. Cottrell has issued several articles in Sociological publications on various topics, including one on "Roles and Marital Adjustment".

Radio Group Casts Play Tonight at 8

Casting of "A Drink of Water", third major production of the McGill Radio Workshop this year, will be made tonight at 8 p.m. in the Union. The first show of the year, "The Pussycat and the Expert Plumber Who Was a Man", was recorded last Saturday afternoon under the direction of Gerald Charnass and is now being studied with a view towards its presentation over a local station.

Second broadcast of the season will be a radio adaptation of the English morality play "Everyman". Director Arthur Garmale announced yesterday that the final rehearsal will take place this Friday evening at 7.30. The show will be recorded on Saturday afternoon when the cast will meet in the Union at 1.30 before going to the studios.

No rehearsal of "A Drink of Water" will be held on Saturday, Nov. 23. Director Bill Levy has stated. This is to give members of the "Everyman" cast an opportunity to try for parts: Male and female voices are both needed and old-timers and new-comers are alike welcome.

NEWMAN CLUB - DAWSON CATHOLICS

There will be a meeting for all the Catholics at Dawson, on Thursday night, at 6.45 p.m. in Theatre (T2). It is at this meeting that separate Newman Club will be set up. Speakers for the evening will be the McGill Club chaplain, Rev. Emmott Carter, and the president, James Hemens.

It is hoped that a large number will turn out, so that the new club will start off on the right foot. Following the meeting, the Dawson Student Council will hold its scheduled meeting in the main theatre (T1).

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the club will be held today at 1 p.m. in the Union Music Room. The speaker will be Norman Nerenberg, who will speak on the subject, "What A Socialist Canada Would Mean".

The speaker is a prominent authority on the subject, and is considered one of the near-great on this particular aspect, stated members

U. of Montreal Issues Invitation to McGill

An open invitation to all students of McGill to attend the first showing of French films at the University of Montreal was issued last night by Jean Gellinas, Director of the University of Montreal Film Society. The program commences at 8.15 p.m. on Saturday, in the Auditorium of the University. Beginning a weekly series of Saturday night films, this week's program will consist of a Sacha Guitry film entitled "Ils etaient 9 Colibataires", which translated means: "There were Nine Bachelors". The other film on the program will be a Rene Clair Comedy entitled "Le chapeau de Paille d'Italie" which translates into "The Italian Straw Hat". This latter film is a part of the film library of the American Museum of Modern Art.

Labor Record Is Outlined By Watson

By S. RUBIN

"We are trying to build democratic socialism and maintain the democratic liberties of the British people," stated Sam Watson in a speech delivered yesterday in the Union Ballroom. The meeting was sponsored by the McGill CCF club and attracted a turnout of approximately 150 people.

Mr. Watson, executive member of the British Labour Party, outlined the Labour government's transition of Britain from a capitalist to a socialist society.

CRITICIZES C.P.

The speaker was very informative and disclosed much information previously unknown to Canadians because, as he said: "The Canadian Press seems very noteworthy to a visitor for what it doesn't say about what the Labour government is doing." The nationalization of the Bank of England has enabled the government to do many things which previously were impossible, such as subsidizing farmers and industries, so that the cost of living in England has not risen a single per cent. since the Labour party took power in July, 1945.

SOCIAL SECURITY

"We believe in compensation," was his theme of the method in which the new socialist regime is nationalizing the basic industries. Mr. Watson also outlined the detailed and comprehensive social security program now in operation in England which gives every possible medical treatment and hospitalization as well as covering every possible loss of income, injury, etc.

The speaker also outlined how the Labour government is safeguarding traditional British liberties. In the question period most of the time was spent discussing British foreign policy and the theme of this discussion was in Mr. Watson's own words, "We have a foreign policy, even though you may not think it—we are making mistakes".

Students Own Prize Sheep

Toronto, November 18.—(CUP)—When a student takes a dog on a leash for a walk, that's normal, but when he is met leading a shabby, prize sheep, that's news.

Sunny Sussman, a Varsity student, was encountered in such circumstances the other morning on St. George Street.

"What is this beast?" he was asked.

"What beast? Oh, you mean Marbles."

Marbles, called "The Pi Lamb," is a 45-lb. lamb purchased from the stockyards by the Phi Lambda Phi Fraternity as a mascot. He cost 11c a lb. or $4.95.

Since the arrival of the mascot the eating of sheep has been banned in the fraternity house. In the fraternity initiation Marbles played a prominent role. The fraternity even asserts that Marbles can talk.

One of the frat brothers asked Marbles, "When you are dead and gone, what kind of degree would you like your skin to be made into?" Marbles looked up with his soft, pathetic eyes and replied, "BA BA BA."

Of the executive, Luncheon may be eaten during the talk, and all students will be welcome.

The Band Plays On!

Red and White Band to Supply Instruments to All New Members

(This is the second of a series of articles prepared by the University Band executive intended to enlighten the student body on the present condition of the McGill band.)

Come one, come all—the band invites you to attend our next practice! At present the band is undergoing some major changes and there is room for you. If you can or desire to play any brass, woodwind or percussion instrument please let the band know! Here's your chance to make yourself heard around the campus.

The band plays all types of music which includes waltzes, overtures, marches, etc. under the expert leadership of Sgt.-Maj. Black. The band takes this opportunity to extend a special invitation to professional musicians now attending McGill—You will not be disappointed.

The band at present consists of approximately 33 members, which is shamefully inadequate for a university of 8000 students. The band sizes of other universities are: Toronto — 60 pieces; Western — 50 pieces; Queen's—40 pieces. Bands such as these found it necessary to turn away applicants. When then can McGill not produce such a band?

Our band music—library is well stocked, and is expanding to meet increasing needs. The librarian has connections with the leading music centres of Canada. Significantly, however, band music is worthless without musicians!

The band will attend the Athletic Festival and most of the McGill hockey games, aside from other engagements which will crop up during the season.

The executive is at present drawing up plans for the formation of Canada's best college band. Everyone is asked to co-operate in this campaign by submitting suggestions to the Daily, and by joining the ranks of the band.

Neurology Lectures At 5 P.M. Today

The Montreal Neurological Society will meet today at 5.00 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Montreal Neurological Institute, and the program will consist of three lectures. The first speaker will be Dr. C. M. Fisher, whose subject is "Case of retinal and cerebral vasospasm". Dr. V. Cone will follow speaking on "Case presentation". Finally Dr. A. R. Elvidge will speak on "Case for diagnosis". All those who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

British Invent Wife-saving Technique

By BILL ADAMS

The green and pleasant land has done it again. You have all heard what valiant efforts the United Kingdom is making to regain its export markets. Why the people over there are just as busy these days as a hive of tea-drinking bees. They've made movies, the kind that do the ladies 'chests' and get into trouble with American censors. They've made jet planes, they've made flat irons, and washing machines, gloves, mustard, woolens, whiskey, in fact, a couple of years ago they almost made the writer himself.

Moreover, Britain aspires to become the fashion and cultural centre of the post-war world. Those cute little fashions for the female form that Paris used to specialize in; those new nationalization schemes, 'womb to room to tomb by Beveridge'; these are all part of this tremendous activity of cultural exportation. However, they are all water back of the pub compared with the brand new type of ideas being readied for foreign consumption.

The London Times of Oct. 30, 1946 gives a broadly accented inkling of things to come. Since the English, especially the 'London Times English' have a unique way of introducing their subject, we

UniVet Issues Annual Report; Past President Lists Progress

Over 4,000 part time jobs for approximately 300 student veterans was the record of UniVet last year, according to its official annual report printed below. The retiring president, Paul LeBrooy, in a statement to the Daily, cited these accomplishments and emphasized that UniVet is chartered as a non-profit organization and that it started from scratch in October, '45.

He added that the claim of Len Starkey in a recent front page article that UniVet was not making money, was an error when considered in the light of the annual report. This report was communicated to him while president of the McGill Veterans Society with a balance sheet certified by a chartered accountant, Le Brooy, continued.

Union Site Of Banquet For Plumbers

The Banquet for Third and Fourth Year Engineers will be held Tuesday, November 26, at 7.15 p.m. in the Union Cafeteria and Grill Room.

Dean J. O'Neill will give a short address on "The History of Engineering at McGill", in which he will touch on the high spots of the happenings around "Plumbers Hall" in the years gone by.

After dinner there will be smokes in the Ballroom at which Plumbers will indulge in their favorite beverage.

Tickets cost $1.25 and will go on sale towards the end of the week. They may be obtained from the Third and Fourth Year class executives, and as the accommodation in the Union is limited, all are advised to get them early. Exact time of sale for these tickets will be announced in the Daily.

It was originally intended to have a banquet for the whole of the Engineering faculty, but the failure to get a large enough hall forced the executives to have two banquets, one for Third and Fourth Year Engineers, and one for Second Year, which is now being arranged.

Canadian Club Meets In Windsor Hotel

A meeting of The Canadian Club of Montreal will take place in the Windsor Hotel on Monday, November 25, 1946, at 1 p.m. The guest of honour will be Dr. Edward Warner who will deliver a speech entitled "Making One World In The Air".

Dr. Warner is President of PICAQ, and since 1935 has been a member of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Tickets at $1.10 will be on sale until Saturday, November 23 at: S. Hyman Ltd., 230 St. James St. W., and 698 St. Catherine St. W.; A. T. Chapman, 1322 Sherbrooke St. W.; Bryson's Drug Store, corner Peel and St. Catherine Sts.

Loan Board Set Up To Judge Need For Funds

Final clarification and details of the student veteran Loan Fund, which is in operation now, were received by The Daily late yesterday afternoon.

Administered by a Student-Veterans' Loan Board, the fund was not introduced in lieu of increasing the D.V.A. maintenance allowance, as is erroneously believed, but rather, it is designed to meet emergency conditions among the student-veterans.

The four-man loan board, which consists of the Bursar of the University as Chairman, the Dean of the Faculty of the applicant, the D.V.A. Supervisor of Training, and the Students' Counsellor, is authorized to grant any student-veteran a loan not exceeding $500 for any academic year and not exceeding a total of $2,000.

Main conditions governing the authorization of the grant state that the "student-veteran shall, subsequent to discharge, have successfully completed at least one year's academic work." Further, the Board must reach a unanimous agreement that the student-veteran has established: "That his financial position is such that lack of some financial assistance threatens the continuation of his training program; that he does not have other financial resources on which he could reasonably draw; and that his past record and probable future earning capacity are such that he will be able to meet the repayment requirements."

Interest free until the January 1 following graduation, the fund is then repayable with interest at 5 per cent. at the rate of not less than $250 of principal per year.

RVC Union Invites Co-ed Vets for Tea

The executive of the Women's Union will play host to women student veterans at McGill at a tea to be held in the Women's Common Room in R.V.C. from 4 to 6 p.m. this afternoon.

This will be the first opportunity this term for the women veterans to meet the members of the Women's Union executive and also to get acquainted with each other. A similar tea held last March was very successful, a member of the executive stated, and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout today. Tea will be served from 4 to 4:30 and again from 5-5:30.

CAMSI at McGill

Within the past year, the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes—terse-ly called "CAMSI"—has been carried from the lowest cbb of neglect to a high-point of unity and effectiveness.

The retiring National Executive carried through an affiliation with the Canadian Medical Association, prepared the ground for a decision on financial assistance for internes, drew up a contract for a medical film service covering its whole membership, and organized an increased per-student assessment to finance not only the annual conference of delegates from all the medical schools, but also the greatly increased cost of running the Association.

This National Executive of six medical students, all studying at McGill, have given uncounted hours of time, talent, and effort to the business of bringing the C.A.M.S.I. up to the mark.

None have given more for CAMSI, or contributed more to the name of McGill throughout the medical schools of Canada, than Bob Black, the retiring president. His enthusiasm, energy, and loyalty-inspiring ability, gave the lead, and carried the 10th Conference through to a successful conclusion. We at McGill are proud of him.

Dr. Jonathan C. Meakins, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine of McGill University, is shown (BELOW) addressing the CAMSI conference on "Future Trends in Medicine".

THIS TAKES PRACTICE

This form of sport may not appeal to you. But the addicts will tell you that it does take practice to get satisfactory results.

And so it is with the successful management of personal finances. Some people never learn the secret. Others do, through practice. And a good time to start is while you are at college. Even though funds may be none too plentiful, make a practice of banking part of every dollar you receive. It's a good habit... one that will prove useful to you later. We welcome your account.

Senior Cagers Open Season Tonight Against Y.M.H.A.

McGill Hoopsters In Season Premiere At Pine Ave. Gym

Coach Lew Davies Expected To Unveil Cage Secrets

By RALPH PEARCEY
(Daily Staff Writer).

Tonight is opening night for the McGill Senior Basketball squad, when they take the floor of the Currie gym. in an exhibition tussle against Y.M.H.A., currently tied for top spot in the Montreal Basketball League. Since the Redmen will not be taking part in regular city league play this year, the game tonight will be one of the few times they'll be seen in action against a Montreal team. And it should turn out to be quite a battle.

Mr. Lou Davies, producer and director of this first presentation of the Ball Players' Club, has been coaching the cast with a good deal of secrecy at most of the rehearsals thus far. He has been strangely reluctant to reveal whether or not a new system of attack or defence will be used this season to keep us out of the familiar cellar of the Intercollegiate League, come next February. Could a radical change be in the offing? Tonight may give us an indication.

THE CAST

The names of the characters involved have been announced, but little is known as to their respective roles. Playing return engagements will be George Davidson and Sammy Roth on the forward line, Ken Hoyle and Phil Weisberg on defence, Mart Goodwin at centre, and Manny Schacter, Vic Curran, and Lou Zalkind lurking somewhere in the proscenium.

Has been added. Yeah, we know Mart Goodwin played on last year's Senior Basketball team but the 'something new' is a pair of contact lenses that will enable the stary centre to sink 'em with greater ease and afford him unlimited visibility.

Making their debuts as Senior Redmen will be ex-Intermediates Chuck Murray, Bob Beaugrand, and Mickey Davine, Bob Duford, Frank Kaszas and Cousineau of Dawson, "Bob" Fitzgerald from Regina, and Myer Bloom from the Y.M.H.A. Juniors.

TOUGH OPPOSITION

In the Y.M.H.A. squad, the boys face some tough, experienced opposition. Most of them have played together for the past few seasons, and in the games so far have proven to be a fast, well-balanced outfit. They should prove a good test of the scoring power and defensive ability of Lou Davies' hopefuls.

Considering that it will be the Redmen's first appearance of the 1946-47 season, the basketball may not be polished and precise, but you can bet there'll be plenty of fast and rugged action on hand when the curtain goes up. Tonight at eight, that is.

Fizzeds Lose Softball Clash

Plumber fought plumber last night at the Gym, and Eng. 4 took Eng. 2 B for a ride to the station of defeat 10 to 9, while in the second chapter Law outspoke Fizzeds 1, 6 to 4. Gagnon, Laflamme, Spino and Choran were the sluggers for the 4th year plumbers, and knocked Seto's ball around the field, while errors, marked Eng. 28 futile attempt, to counter-attack.

LAW NIPS PHYS. EDs.

Solomon, an excellent pitcher from last year's champion Arts and Science team pitched a wonderful game and held Phys. Eds. 1 down to five earned hits. Though Kimery, who also pitched a beautiful game, was not as successful and was unable to hold back Lawyer-hitters, like Payette and Godin, who knocked out 3 for 3. Next game for Law is with Eng. 2A and will decide the winner of that section. Next games, tomorrow, 5.15 p.m. Phys. Ed. 3 vs. Comm. 2; 6.00 p.m. Eng. 4 vs. Med. 2.

The Daily Says:

"NO ISSUE ON 'AMATEURISM'"

At the risk of repetition, it might be well to clarify the Daily's stand with regard to amateur sports. In our series of articles on the present athletics set-up we have never taken issue with the principle of true amateurism. There exists no doubt that the concept of sports for its own sake is an idea which needs neither apology nor defense. BUT, and this is our central point, what happens in practice and in theory are rarely the identical thing.

Representative Intercollegiate sports are played for two reasons—prestige and the financial returns available. These financial returns permit the operation of an extensive intra-mural organization in which the vast bulk of the student body can participate. Obviously, it is impossible to run an enterprise that involves such tremendous monetary expenditure as an Intercollegiate sports organization on anything less than business principles. This is the attitude that has been adopted by the other members of the Intercollegiate Union and which we ourselves must either adhere to or withdraw from active college competition.

SHAM AMATEURISM

The Daily has never commented upon the morality of this attitude but has concerned itself with the practical problem of presenting a solution to these two alternatives facing McGill. Theoretically, the C.I.A.U. members pay lip service to amateurism but in actual fact the spirit of the law is being broken. As we have pointed out in past articles, the same thing applies all over the Continent. The famed Ivy League which last spring proudly announced that athletic scholarships had been banned have enrolled some highly coveted football talent this fall and at the current market price for football players we frankly doubt that these boys are amateurs.

At no time have our articles been intended to offer anything but constructive rather than destructive suggestions. It does seem apparent, however, that either we play college sports under the same set of rules guiding Western Queen's and Varsity or they play under our code. The latter possibility looks to be the more remote by far of the two. It is no secret that, even if the universities composing the C.A.U. were to adopt a policy wherein no athlete is subsidized, many of those partaking in college athletics would still not be amateurs in the true sense of the word. The further the various professional organizations extend their farm systems and the larger arenas that the developing player has to perform in, the more likely it is that he will be subsidized.

START FARM SYSTEM

At the present time we do not suggest that McGill go out on a program of paying players; there is, fortunately, no pressing need for this. What we do suggest in the developing of a farm system amongst the high schools in this area.

To take the game of football as a basic example, the system would operate as follows. The McGill coach of the football will gather the various high school coaches of the area together and explain his style of play. In short he would conduct a school for coaches and encourage their using his basic formations in their play. In addition he would keep himself abreast of the latest developments of the game and pass this information along, as well as points on how to teach the fundamentals of the game.

In return these coaches would try to steer their better players to this university. While it is true that there will be many players who will be attracted by the promise of financial help to other areas, enough men will have been developed with a sound, basic knowledge to provide for continuous replacements, needing only the polishing of a more experienced coach to be a player capable of holding his own in the intercollegiate league. Of course, much of this hinges on the need for hiring good men as coaches. Men, who are able to devote SUFFICIENT TIME to their tasks and this, naturally, implies the payment of SUFFICIENT REMUNERATION to enable them to do so.

Snooker Sharks Start Season Successfully

By all present indications the Snooker Tournament should turn out to be a fairly successful event on this campus' already crowded agenda of sports competition.

Sixty-four candidates have entered the tournament and the first round is already in progress. The organizers of this Snooker tournament ask that all contestants play complete the first round by Monday at the latest in order to finish the tournament before Christmas. About 20 contestants are left in the first round who have not played so far.

James Gunn was last year's champion by means of his thrilling victory over George Davidson.

Soccerout?

Red and White Soccer Eleven Seek First Victory Tomorrow

Tomorrow night at 8.30 the lights go on at the Molson Stadium as the McGill soccer team takes the field against an all star eleven from the Montreal leagues.

The all stars are an unknown quantity as Andy Menyes who is organising the team has not yet released the list of players, but he promises to produce a young and well balanced squad. This will be the sixth contest for the Redmen, and as yet they have failed to gain a victory although they have tied twice. They twice have gone down to defeat as the hands of their arch rivals at Dawson, but on two other occasions have held the powerful St. John boys to a draw. In their other game the Red

Junior Water Poloists To Meet Maisonneuve

Tonight at 8.30 the McGill junior water polo team lines up against the Maisonneuve seven in a regular league fixture at the MAA. Donning trunks for the Redmen will be Mullins, Cameroff, Hoffman, Fineberg, Parkinson, Dawson, Flood, Osterman, and Davies.

Archie Brenhouse announced last night the appointment of two assistant managers in the persons of Ian Fraser and Peter Cameron, who will help with the senior and junior teams respectively.

There will be a practice tonight for the seniors only at 5.00 p.m. at the MAA, in preparation for an exhibition game against Queen's on Saturday.

Dawson College Clash with U. of M. In Basketball Game

St. John's After Second Win In Intermediate M.B.L. League

This evening at 9.00 p.m. in Sir Arthur Currie Gym., the Dawson Intermediate M. B. L. squad will sprint onto the floor to shoot for their second win in as many starts. Last Wednesday in the opener of the season's first double-header, held at Dawson, the Doc Holmes' coached boys got their season off to a good start with a 45-29 victory over Loyola.

Coach Lou Davies and the McGill student body at large will be on hand to cast a critical eye at senior McGill teams in the making. The University of Montreal is generally conceded to be the team to beat and against this stiff opposition the St. John's stars will have a real chance to prove their ability.

HERE'S POWER

Among the select group of starters chosen by Red Somers in the absence of Coach Doc Holmes are two old West Hill High, Don "Tiggy" Chaloner and Brian Laing, whom many of the High School spectators will remember as stars of that championship 1942-43 team. These two are old buddies now, playing right through their school-days together. Each of them is twenty years old now and has served two and a half years in the armed forces — Chaloner in the R.C.A.F. as a navigator-bombardier and Laing in the U.S. Navy. Don Chaloner was out here last year as coach of the Intermediate 'B' team and previous to that played right forward for the Victoriaville Air Force team and also in the midget M.B.L. in 1942-43 along with Laing. Brian may be familiar to some of the McGill fans who saw him play on the McGill Intermediate team in '43 before enlisting.

This lad has travelled quite a bit having also played guard for the San Diego Navy team during the war. These two comprise strong components of this year's squad with Chaloner playing his usual right forward position and Laing playing guard. It was Chaloner who, in the last game, quelled a Loyola threat by scoring four baskets in two minutes.

Playing opposite "Tiggy" at left forward is Frank Ramsay, a 25-year-old vet who saw five years of service in the R. C. Signals. Born in Ottawa and living most of his life in Montreal, Frank started his basketball career playing Senior "A" ball for Montreal High. After this he was nabbed by Central "Y" where he played on the Junior and Provincial Champion Juvenile M.B.L. teams. In the army he played for the Kingston City Championship Army team before coming to Dawson.

Back of the ten second line along with Brian Laing we have Israel "Sruil" Zunder. This amazing lad—we may call him amazing being in first year engineering at the tender age of seventeen—has come to Dawson with an impressive record of basketball achievements behind him. Living in Ottawa until this year, he played Bantam for Ottawa Tech in 1942 and '43, and Midget in '44, and Junior in '45. A note of interest is that popular "Sruil" was captain of the three teams he played on.

The remaining member of the starting line up is Paul Samson, brought up to the centre position for this game. This six foot player

Class Cagers Need Entries

Thirteen teams have so far been entered in the intramural cage loop which is scheduled to start next week. Of these only seven have managers. The squads without managers and in the market are Arts I, Sci. II & Sci. III, Comm. II, Eng. 3b. Anyone interested should contact the intramural basketball manager at the gym.

The entries with managers are Arts II, Eng. 3a, 2b, 3a, Eng. IV & Phys. Ed. I & II. There has been no word from any Med. quintet nor from two of the Commerce years. An entry from Sci. IV, last year's champions is also missing.

With the inclusion of a few of the missing faculties, a well rounded schedule will be evolved. This will probably consist of five sections of four teams each or vice versa. The winners of each section play off at the end of the year for the championship. Competition is usually very close with many upsets scored during the schedule.

the team has looked good in practice. The play a hard-driving, fast-running type of game that will keep their opponents constantly on their toes.

How about your own little "sphere of influence?"

That's the region containing your shirt, collar, tie, and handkerchief. Your mirror will show how much it influences your entire appearance.

To make that inner circle a winner, do this:

Wear an Arrow Shirt. It has a collar that sets and slopes perfectly.

Wear an Arrow Tie. It knots wonderfully, thanks to a special lining.

Wear an Arrow Handkerchief. It matches, and has the quality of staying fresh.

Music Notes

If the performance last night was a criterion on which all of this season's concerts by the Little Symphony are to be based, Mr. Naylor and his orchestra have prepared for their audience a series of concerts which will certainly rank, among the finest ever given in the city. Pleading for the success of last night's concert must be given to both the conductor and the members of the orchestra. Scarcely has such fine work been turned in by a Montreal ensemble.

The principal work on the programme was the Mozart Symphony No. 35, the Haftner which was given a cool, brisk performance that stressed the classical line of the music. This detracted somewhat from the essentially Viennese character of the work, but although the playing was far from a "gemutlich" performance it was indeed a memorable one.

The orchestra did some of its finest work of the evening in the first and last movements but it seemed not susceptible to the lyric beauties of the slow movement.

In the first half of the concert there was a performance of a suite from the Sibelius music for "Peleas and Melisande", but it was only at brief intervals that the orchestra was able to soar to the heights and capture that undefinable, mysterious quality that is so essential for a truly great Sibelius performance. It was in this suite that the clarinets and oboes did some of their most interesting work of the evening.

The Beethoven "Romance in F" for violin and orchestra was played by the concert-master of the orchestra, Pierre Josch. Mr. Josch has a small, fine tone which fitted admirably with the style of the performance.

Herve Baillargeon, the solo flautist of the orchestra, displayed his ability to handle the gymnastics of the flute in his performance of Griffes' "Poeme for Flute and Orchestra". The ensemble was satisfied to give the listeners only a rather routine performance of a game because of studies. To replace him at guard will be Schoner. These others consist of Larry Brown who started off at centre last time, Andre Bedard who turned in a nice twelve point game, Collin McKinnon and Elliott Godel who also scored, and blonde Hugh Turner. N.F.C.U.S. CULTURAL UNITY PANEL

The N.F.C.U.S. panel on Cultural Unity within and between Universities will meet at 1 p.m. Thursday. Ask about room at Tuck Shop. The panel's work will fall into four divisions—1. Study of the integration of the various cultural groups represented on this campus; 2. Consideration of ways in which the interest and understanding between French and other Canadian universities may be strengthened; 3.

quote the revealing paragraph. "On an erroneous assumption, the American marriage had been dissolved, he (refers to a military man of the North American Continent) went through a form of marriage at Caxton Hall register office on January 21, 1944 at 12.30 p.m. In fact the American final decree of divorce was not pronounced until 2.30 p.m. in Chicago on the same day as the marriage, namely January 21, 1944."

The divorce was granted after a considerable display of jurisprudential distortion in the next two paragraphs. Apparently the whole matter found its way into the courts when Lieut.-Commander Blank imbibed the sweet sorrow of parting, returned to his native heath, and wrote the following letter after a gentlemanly delay: "Darling, I've just realized although that January afternoon I insisted upon marriage before tea, my wife actually persisted until well into the evening. Oh if I hadn't been so impetuous and only waited until evening, but that was real love! Well, perhaps I'll meet you again at one of the better railroad stations. Cairo, Barritz, or possibly Smolensk? Don't lose hope Darling, keep your courage up and your hotel door unlocked. Love, Blanky."

Imagine the situation when this technique becomes popular. Time clocks will be installed in all the principle churches of cities like Montreal, a bell will ring when the hour is punched on the license and the position of the sun will be recorded by the officiating dignitary.

We can't refrain from mentioning a few pitfalls to the expectant bride. Girls, imagine yourself as a sweet young thing dressed in the appropriate colors on that crucial day. The groom seems suspiciously composed considering the crisis he faces. His mental anguish is positively shocking and in decidedly bad taste; he should feign an air of convulsed expectancy even if he does not feel it. Do you know why he grins like a man from a Whiskey Distillation Ad? The old satyr remembers the child bride he heartlessly abandoned without a stitch of grass to her name back in Uban-gi in '43. She doesn't get her final decree from the tribal jury of Boola Boola until 4.30 E.S.T. this afternoon.

Check your husbands, the stop watch may be wrong. Ah, for the good old days when last Tuesday's wife was almost as good as new!
